SUBJECT: Weight Labels on Devices Made in Technical Support

Although many of the devices we fabricate in Technical Support such as magnets are labeled with the lifting weight, we still are not consistent in this practice. Be advised that the DOE Hoisting and Rigging Manual requires the weight of the object to be known prior to the actual lift. Labeling of the device helps to ensure a safe lift.

Please survey all the devices that you have fabricated to make sure that they are properly labeled. I would like this survey complete and appropriate labels attached by December 15, 1991.
